overview

Scott Windsor – AKA The Lyndsay Diaries (TLD), is back with his 2nd full-length record on The Militia Group. After non-stop touring for a whole year and going to college for some time, The Lyndsay Diaries has entered the studio producing 10 more beautiful and heart-felt songs. Adding a more mature and full-sound to the mix – TLD has also included drums, cello, upright bass, slide guitar to produce more of a sonically full sounding album. This new album also features special guests doing background vocals (Joneton from Stairwell on "Mixtapes and Memories" and Sean O'Donnell from Reeve Oliver stepping in for entire album) this time around in which TLD came to San Diego to record for 3 weeks with Sean O'Donnell.

Literally recorded and mixed at Sean O'Donnell's house – they used all the rooms in the house to get specific sounds, including the bathroom – and created a wonderfully produced record. These are songs that anyone can relate to if they have a beating heart. Covering topics such as friendship (title track is about his best friend being paralyzed from result of a car accident they were both involved in....) love, moving, anger, suicide, etc.
